Part 8: Comprehension Passage 1

Read the passage below carefully.

"Eddie! No dreaming!" a voice rang out. "Start your Mathematics homework now!"

Eddie sighed and strolled up the stairs to his room without listening to what his father was saying. Eddie's father, Mr Tan, was strict and had always threatened to punish Eddie. Eddie soon learned to turn a deaf ear to his threats, 5

Listlessly, Eddie flipped through the pages of his textbook. He recalled that his Mathematics teacher, Miss Tan, had set some fractions homework that day. He sighed and tried to make sense of what he had written in his exercise book. He was nearly dozing off when his mobile phone started ringing. Instantly alert, Eddie sat up. He knew what it meant. 10

Miss Tan and her precious fractions would have to wait. Heart racing, Eddie snatched the school bag on the floor and dashed out of the house to meet his friends.

In no time, Eddie met his friends at the field. When they first started the game, Eddie felt guilty and ashamed but quickly tossed it aside. They ran around the field, quick as lightning, totally engrossed in the game. 15

"What's going on here?" a loud voice cut through the air.

The game came to a stop immediately. Everyone was silent. Eddie froze. He recognised that voice. He turned around to see his father glaring at him and his arms crossed. 20

Eddie knew he was in deep trouble.

Part 9 : Comprehension Passage 2

Read the passage below carefully.

It was a time of pure, innocent fun. It was the best time of my life. I remembered those moments when I enjoyed playing with my childhood friends.

"Teddy bear, teddy bear, touch the ground!" we would chant, screaming excitedly. We hardly got bored of these games. In that moment, I would not hear anything but my two friends' laughter. I would not see anything but my hair whipping against my face, when I tried to jump over the rubber-bands. The rubber-bands would wrap me like a cocoon. "Looks like a problem," I would sigh. My friends would giggle at me.

5

Then, we would drag our tired bodies into the house and sprawl on the wooden-planked floor for a game of five stones. It was hard to tell who was the best.

10

Some of my neighbours played other games. Gopal preferred a game of skill. He loved to play with the feathered shuttlecock and would easily capture it with his foot. John kept many marbles. He was the expert among us. The way his fingers flicked the marbles made them collide at perfect angles.

15

Sadly, a few years later, the kampongs had to make way for new apartments and shops. I cannot recall much about the lifestyle then. I only remembered those moments when I played my childhood games with my kampung mates.

Question 33

Primary 3 English » Primary 3 English (Term 4)

1 pt

Read the passage below carefully.

It was a time of pure, innocent fun. It was the best time of my life. I remembered those moments when I enjoyed playing with my childhood friends.

"Teddy bear, teddy bear, touch the ground!" we would chant, screaming excitedly. We hardly got bored of these games. In that moment, I would not hear anything but my two friends' laughter. I would not see anything but my hair whipping against my face, when I tried to jump over the rubber-bands. The rubber-bands would wrap me like a cocoon. "Looks like a problem," I would sigh. My friends would giggle at me.

Then, we would drag our tired bodies into the house and sprawl on the wooden-planked floor for a game of five stones. It was hard to tell who was the best.

Some of my neighbours played other games. Gopal preferred a game of skill. He loved to play with the feathered shuttlecock and would easily capture it with his foot. John kept many marbles. He was the expert among us. The way his fingers flicked the marbles made them collide at perfect angles.

Sadly, a few years later, the kampongs had to make way for new apartments and shops. I cannot recall much about the lifestyle then. I only remembered those moments when I played my childhood games with my kampung mates.
