Comprehension MCQ (5 x 2 marks)

Vinnie had his hands full. He always had mixed feelings about the school holidays as he knew Mother would not let him mope about the house, idling his time away. As was the usual case, she had left a list of household chores as long as his arm for him to complete. He was to do them all by the time she got home from work!

5

"Poor me," he thought, as self-pity engulfed him. Buckets, mops, rags and bottles of detergent floated in front of his eyes.

"Stop moping and get on with it!" he told himself. Being no stranger to household chores, he knew exactly what to do. First, he put the soiled clothes into the washing machine and turned it on. Next, he scrubbed the bathroom floors, toilet and sink until they shone. Vacuuming the carpets was a breeze. When the clothes were done, he hung them out to dry. He checked the list and yes, all the boxes were ticked. At last!

10

"Now for some serious reading," he thought to himself.

While he was engrossed in his favourite book written by Roald Dahl, his parents came home.

15

"Vinnie, you've done a marvellous job. I knew I could count on you to be responsible as always," said Mother, beaming as Father ruffled his hair.

"It wasn't exactly a pleasure, Mother," said Vinnie, smiling cheekily.

"Since you've done so much today, why don't we go out to a nice restaurant for dinner?" suggested Father.

20

"Hooray!" exclaimed Vinnie.

Why did Vinnie have his hands full?

- A) He was reading a book
- B) He was carrying buckets and maps
- ✓ C) His mother had given him a list of chores
- D) He was moping about the house, idling his time away

Comprehension OE (10marks)

In a small village in Norway lived Karl and his parents. His parents were very sad as he had a bad temper. Whenever Karl got angry, he would taunt his friends and his neighbours with cruel words. They eventually learnt not to have anything to do with him. Karl was lonely and his parents were concerned for him.

5

Despite his parents gently advising him to control his temper and to treat others with kindness, he ignored them. They were at their wit's end.

Finally, Karl's father came up with an idea to teach him a lesson. He gave Karl a hammer and a huge bag of nails. He told him that whenever he felt angry, he should hammer a nail into the wooden fence in front of the house.

Every time he felt his temper rising, he rushed to the fence and hammered a nail into it. On the first day alone, he had hammered more than thirty nails into the fence. Over the next few days, he found that he had run out of space to hammer more nails into the fence. He decided then to control his anger.

Eventually, as the days went by, there came a day when he did not hammer a nail into the fence. His father then told him to pull out a nail every time he controlled his anger. Over the next few days, almost all the nails were pulled out. However, there were now ugly scars in the fence.

15

His father told him, "You can remove the nails but the scars will remain. The fence will never look the same again. Your angry words are like that. They are more painful than any physical scar. Use words for good purposes and to show the love and kindness in your heart instead, Karl."

20
