Section H: Comprehension

Janice was looking after her sister, Regina, for the day as their parents were at work. Janice wanted to give her some cereal and milk for breakfast but there was no milk in the fridge. She managed to find some buttermilk biscuits and sprinkled some sugar on it for Regina.

"What shall we do today?" Regina asked Janice excitedly after breakfast. Janice mumbled that she had some homework to do. Regina then decided to tie Janice's hair in different ways while she did her work. For lunch, Janice made some homemade pizza with Regina deciding on its delicious ingredients. After lunch, Regina borrowed Janice's stationery and pretended to sell them to imaginary customers. Watching her sister, Janice felt apologetic that Regina did not get to do anything special the whole day.

When their parents came home, Regina saw them and exclaimed, "I had an awesome day today! I ate what I wanted and Janice let me borrow her stationery so that I could pretend to be a store owner selling stationery!"

"Aren't you disappointed we did not do anything fun today?" Janice asked Regina. Regina shrugged and said, "Life is only as fun as you make it, Janice." Janice smiled and thanked Regina for reminding her to look for happiness in the little things.

What did Regina have for breakfast?
