World Of Pets Newsletter

A Monthly Newsletter by Singapore Animal Society - October Issue, 2020

PETS ARE FOR LIFE! BE RESPONSIBLE PET OWNERS!

Being a pet owner comes with many responsibilities, not just to your pet, but also to your neighbours and the wider community. Complete the checklist to see if you qualify as a potential pet owner.

This checklist helps you determine how ready you are to be a pet owner.	Yes	No
Does my family agree to having a pet?
Are we committed to looking after a pet for life?
Can we afford to pay for its veterinary bills, food, and grooming?
Do we have enough time to care for it?
Do we have enough space at home for a pet?
Do we know how to care for our pet properly?

Attend the talk on "Responsible Pet Ownership"

Organised by the Singapore Animal Society

Date: 21 November 2020
Time: 4 - 5pm
Venue: Ocean Community Club
Admission Fee: $5 per person

Free brochures on how to take care of pets will be available at the talk.
For more information on the talk:
• Call us at 67885902
• Register for the talk online at our website: www.sas.org

Synopsis of the talk:

Thinking of getting a pet? Keeping a pet is a lifelong commitment and comes with responsibilities. Many people buy a pet on impulse, without considering the responsibilities of owning a pet. This results in irresponsible behaviour when issues such as family objections, time and financial constraints arise. Attend this talk to find out what you need to consider before you commit to owning a pet.

ABOUT THE SINGAPORE ANIMAL SOCIETY

The Singapore Animal Society (SAS) is a non-profit organisation established in December 2000. Our mission is to improve the welfare of stray animals in Singapore with a strict no-kill policy. SAS aims to encourage the public to adopt instead of buying pets. We also seek to educate the public on responsible pet ownership through various activities and programmes including rescuing, fostering and re-homing of stray and abandoned animals. To date, we have re-homed over 3000 animals and have about 150 cats and dogs under our care. These animals are housed at either our Adoption & Rescue Centre or in foster homes.

SAS Saves Lives!

What people who have adopted pets say:

"We adopted our dog, Rover, only a week ago and he's sweeter than we could have ever imagined. The staff at SAS were friendly, helpful and knowledgeable about the animals under their care. We will definitely recommend SAS to all our friends and family who are interested in adopting a pet."

Mr and Mrs Wong

"I recently found an extremely skinny cat with an eye injury. I gained the cat's trust and brought him to SAS. They helped me so much and more importantly, they helped the kitty. I will forever be grateful to SAS. It is such a wonderful organisation for cats and dogs that need help. If I find other stray animals that need help, I will definitely bring them to SAS."

Augustin Lim

"I went in today to look for a new addition to our family. The staff were extremely helpful and sweet and the area where they kept the animals was really clean and well-kept. So excited to adopt from a place in my hometown! YAY for SAS!"

Question 62

Primary 5 English » Primary 5 English (Term 4) 1 pt

Once the downpour had subsided, members of the Wild Tigers started a friendly soccer match among themselves. Just before Coach Andy blew the whistle to signal the end of the match, Nick scored the winning goal for his team. "Victory!" Nick shouted in elation. To Nick, it was the best birthday present. Knowing that his family had planned a party for him at home, Nick had to think twice before giving in to the pleas of his teammates to proceed with the usual Wild Tigers routine. The boys believed that if the birthday boy wrote his wish on the wall of one of the underground caves, it would come true.

Since the sky had cleared, the Wild Tigers set off to their destination, inviting Coach Andy to join them. Taking their torches with them, the boys and their coach entered the dark tunnel. As they were trekking through the underground tunnels to get to their favourite cave, it started raining heavily again. After Nick had written his birthday wish on the cave wall, the boys sang him a birthday song. Little did they know that it was the beginning of a birthday celebration that would go wrong.

As they were making their way towards the entrance of the tunnel, they heard the gushing of water. With pounding hearts, they watched helplessly at how rapidly the tunnels were filling up. Knowing that they could not make it to the entrance in time, they ran even deeper into the tunnel to escape from the flash flood. When freezing waters were swirling at their feet, the team found and scrambled up a high rocky ledge. The ledge, which was a few metres above the ground, provided them with a refuge from the rising waters. Slowly, the rapid beating of their hearts became steadier and the tension in their bodies eased.

Despite escaping from the rising waters, the Wild Tigers found themselves trapped in the underground cave. Wanting to conserve the batteries in their torches, the team switched them off. Surrounded by darkness, they only realised hours had passed as their stomachs started rumbling loudly. To their utter dismay, they had no food with them. With these odds against them, they were worried that they had no chance of survival. Then, they heard the sounds of dripping water. On hearing these, the Wild Tigers knew they had a supply of drinkable water from the droplets trickling down the walls. Feeling a slight breeze ruffling his hair, Nick found fresh air coming through cracks in the rocks. With these new circumstances working in their favour, the boys and their coach were determined to survive this ordeal. To create more space, the boys used rocks to dig five metres deeper into the cave wall. There, they huddled together to keep warm. As the days passed, fear crept in, slowly escalating into terror. Having complete trust in their coach calmed them down and tamed their growing fear.

The team had been trapped in the pitch-dark cave for a week now. Just when Nick thought that all hope was lost, he heard rippling sounds from the dark waters below. Opening his eyes, he noticed two bright spots. "Look, there is something emerging from the waters!" Nick exclaimed. Opening their eyes, the boys and their coach finally saw light at the end of the tunnel. The cave was illuminated by the torches of two divers emerging from the murky waters. Energised by a newfound hope, the boys jumped down from the ledge and moved eagerly towards the two divers who were there to rescue them.
