Hike Singapore

1st October to 31st October 2020

For many of us, all we see in Singapore are high-rise buildings and shopping malls. However, you will be surprised by the amount of greenery that you can find within the city-state and her offshore islands. The best way to explore this? Hiking, of course!

Participate in Hike Singapore, a new initiative to get Singaporeans into the great outdoors. By doing so, you will get to explore the hiking trails in Singapore and appreciate the lush greenery the country has to offer. Not only will you get to enjoy the benefits that come with hiking, you will also enjoy the time to bond with friends and family. This is something we often forgo due to the busy lifestyles we lead.

THE FIVE BENEFITS OF HIKING:

Fitness

Hiking is a good way to improve our fitness, particularly if our route includes some hills, which will force our heart to work harder. Taking a hike on the slightly uneven surface of a trail also strengthens our muscles and improves our sense of balance.

Sharper Mind

Hiking helps our minds stay sharp. How, you may ask? Thanks to the extra oxygen that is taken in during exercise, our brain is more alert.

Stress-Buster

Another benefit of hiking is that it helps to relieve stress. Studies have suggested that spending time in green spaces enables our tired minds to rest after the prolonged use of the computers and mobile phones.

Creativity

Walking in nature allows our minds to wander freely which in turn leads to more creativity. Many experts have suggested that walking in nature allows our minds to wander and encourages creativity. This will, in turn, allow new ideas to flow freely.

Sleep Quality

A strenuous hike helps in ensuring that we get a good night's sleep. The tired body will naturally get sleepy later in the night and one can look forward to a good night's rest!

Visit www.hikesingapore2020.sg for information on all hiking trails in Singapore.

Four Hiking Trails to Explore

|-----------------------------|---|
| Merah Park | The easiest of the four suggested trails, this 1-kilometre hike should take you less than 30 minutes. Bird enthusiasts will enjoy the special bird hides along the way. You can observe bird species such as eagles and woodpeckers from them. |
| Victoria Nature Park | Located at the north of the island, this easy 2-kilometre hike should take about an hour. There are plenty of fruit trees such as jackfruit and bananas. Do look out for the dragonflies. There are at least 56 species that have been recorded in the park, almost half of the dragonfly species found in Singapore. |
| Coconut Marine Park | This 2-kilometre trail, located along the south-west shore of Singapore, is a little challenging and will take you about 2 hours from one end to the other. Keep your eyes open for the hidden beaches along the way. |
| Ridge Community Park | Ridge Community Park offers the most challenging trail of 5-kilometres, which will take most hikers about 3 hours to complete. However, once on the trail, you will get to enjoy the beauty of the streams and lakes as well as the many squirrels and monkeys. |

Health and Safety Tips:

Wear comfortable footwear

- Choose well-fitting footwear with good ankle support. Make sure they are comfortable enough so you do not get blisters on that long hike.

Select the right trail

- Start off with a shorter and easier trail especially if you have not exercised in a while, or are uncertain of your fitness level.

Check the weather

- Take note of lightning alerts as you check the weather forecast before you begin your hike.

Stay hydrated

- Drink plenty of water during your hike, especially when it is hot.

Carry essentials

- Bring along a small backpack with items like a first-aid kit, mosquito repellent and healthy snacks.

Walk with a friend

- Hike with a partner as a safety precaution. This will ensure there is someone to keep you company and seek help should there be an emergency.

Jonah would never forget how he managed to overcome his shyness and make new friends all because of the timely advice he had heeded a month ago. He remembered that day clearly.

The bell for recess resounded through the corridors at Glendale Primary School. However, instead of heading to the canteen like all the other children did, Jonah, a new student at the school, retreated to the library. He pushed open the swinging door and headed for the nearest bookshelf. Other than the incessant drone of the air-conditioner, the library was quiet and there was barely a soul in sight. Far in a corner, he spotted Mrs Lim, the librarian, who was too busy shelving some books to pay any attention to him. The windows to the library looked out to the canteen. Jonah could hear children laughing and chatting. He wished he was outside playing with some friends but he did not let this bother him.

Suddenly, Jonah heard a rustling sound in the corner. He spun around and saw a pair of eyes peeking at him from behind the bookshelves. Jonah abruptly turned back, eyes wide as saucers. "Oh dear!" he whispered. He peeked over his shoulder again and saw a smaller boy on crutches walking towards him.

"Hi," the boy muttered awkwardly from behind Jonah. "Can I sit with you?" he asked.

"Um... yes," Jonah said, his face flushed red with embarrassment. The boy pulled out the chair next to him and sat down.

"I'm Henry. Why are you reading here when you could be playing with your friends instead?"

"Uh..." Jonah looked around the library, avoiding Henry's gaze. He did not want Henry to know the real reason he was in the library. What would Henry think of him if he knew Jonah did not have any friends? It would make Jonah feel more miserable. Sensing Jonah's hesitation, Henry replied, "It's alright. Finish reading your book. I'll sit with you"

As Jonah turned the page, he realised Henry was still sitting there, watching him steadily. He had the same look in his eye as Jonah's father during the quiet car rides home from school. Jonah was helplessly tight-lipped whenever his father asked whom he had played or eaten with at school. From his silence, Jonah's father knew he was lonely. It was not that Jonah did not have any friends. They all just happened to live really far away. Jonah would stay up late at night chatting on the computer with his old friends from his previous school. Somehow, it made him feel close to them despite the distance. After being transferred to a new school, Jonah realised how difficult it was to make new friends. Furthermore, everyone had different interests and their own circle of friends already.

"I know how you feel," Henry said, as if he could read Jonah's mind. "I know what it's like to be lonely now that I'm here. Just look at my cast. With this broken leg, I'm stuck here the whole week and cannot go out to play!" Henry said in frustration. "That's why I turn to books for comfort to keep myself occupied," he continued, smiling.

"I'm not lonely," Jonah replied.

"Oh, come on," Henry said, rolling his eyes. "I can see it in your face. You look miserable."

Jonah was startled as he had not expected a total stranger to sense his loneliness. "Just say hello to someone today," Henry encouraged. "I promise they'll respond. Once you've made the first move, it just gets easier."

Jonah sighed, not knowing what to do next. Henry obviously did not understand how challenging that was going to be. However, Jonah appreciated the advice and thanked him before making his way out of the library. In the hallway outside the library, a boy from Jonah's class was crouched on the floor, picking up pens, pencils, and highlighters that had dropped out of his pencil case. Fighting the urge to just walk away, Jonah leaned down and picked up a few pens. Then, he remembered what Henry had advised him.

"Hello, I'm Jonah. Let me help you," he offered. The boy looked up at him.

"Thank you! My name is Ruben."

Victory at last, Jonah thought, feeling proud of himself.
