Question 21

Primary 6 English » Primary 6 English (Prelim)

1 pt

Swimming is Good for You!

Swimming brings about many benefits. Do you know that you can greatly increase your stamina by swimming? In addition, swimming is also a life skill that might come in useful for survival.

Strengthen Your Heart and Lungs

Do you feel out of breath doing normal activities? Regular swimming, once or twice a week, will help to improve your stamina and overall fitness, strengthening your heart and lungs!

Improve Flexibility of Your Joints

You use your muscles and bones when you swim and that gets your joints moving. This enables your joints to stay supple. Over time, your joints will not feel as stiff, allowing you to go about your daily activities with ease.

Increase Muscular Strength

We need muscular strength for our everyday activities, from getting up from a seat, to walking around. Swimming benefits people of all ages when it comes to the strengthening and toning of our muscles. With stronger muscles, normal activities will seem less tiring, indicating a boost in your stamina!

Tone Your Body

Swimming regularly burns fats and when that happens, the muscles under the fat become toned and firm. This results in a fitter and more toned body shape.

Rehabilitate Your Injuries

Swimming on a regular basis can have a drastic effect on injuries. Being an impact-free form of exercise, swimming allows the muscles and joints to work and exercise under stress-free conditions. This promotes the healing and rehabilitation of muscle pulls and joint strain.

Reap these benefits and more by joining
Smiling Fishy Swimming School!

Smiling Fishy Swimming School

Join Smiling Fishy Swimming School to discover the wonderful health benefits of swimming with our dedicated and passionate coaches. To begin, choose the swimming class that caters to your needs!

Baby Class (4 months to 2 years)

Our aquatic programme is designed for babies and toddlers. Your child will learn how to enter the water safely, hold their breath when they go underwater, propel themselves to the side of the pool and finally, get out of the pool safely. All these will be conducted in our indoor heated pool!

Kids Class (3 years to 12 years)

Your child will have a whale of a time, splashing about while learning a variety of swimming styles. Who knows, they might also make new friends!

Adult Class (13 years and above)

Are you learning swimming for the first time? Put your worries to rest, as our highly trained instructors will gently ease you into the pool at your own pace. Each

Lesson is designed to cater to your skills and comfort level.

Family Class (up to 5 people per group, maximum of 2 adults)

With our family swimming lessons, your family can have precious bonding time as you learn to swim. Please take note that this programme is not suitable for children below the age of 5.

Question 62

Primary 6 English » Primary 6 English (Prelim)

The blare horn sounded and the crowd jumped to their feet. Bob sprinted into his customary lead. Jack, seeing this, went to take his position as Buster and Monty, the third and fourth runners of the four-by-four hundred metres relay team watched on from the field beside the track. The crowd couldn't wait for the athletes to each run a lap around the track.
From the substitutes' bench, Percy watched Jack with admiration. Jack paced Bob to the line, seized the baton from Bob without a break in stride and raced off to maintain the lead Bob had given him. Buster, too, maintained it. Monty, the final runner, was pitted against the swiftest boy of Pineville School but he fought off the boy's heroic attempt to overtake him and crossed the finish line first, bringing a burst of applause from the crowd.	5
Only then did Percy feel the grip of fingers that had been digging into his shoulder. The fingers belong to Coach Weston.	10
"What an exciting finish," murmured the coach. Percy nodded but bitterness welled within him because he had been denied a chance. Still he swallowed his feelings and was the first to congratulate the team. As Percy left, some of his feelings must have been showing on his face because the coach started walking beside him.	15
"Are you all right? You might have done as well," said the coach. At that, Percy confided in the coach. "I've earned the right for a try on that team. I've defeated Monty in all the practices and the rest of the team knows it. They know I'm the faster runner but because they've not been defeated and because they have teamed up since last year, they monopolise the relay event."	20
Having revealed his thoughts, Percy gasped and looked at the coach apprehensively. He should have thought before he acted. To his surprise, the coach gave him a kind smile. "You're right, Percy. You've earned a try. You are running in Monty's place next week against Tech High."	25
The next day, the coach broke the news to the relay team. Percy's blood boiled as he saw them make swift glances at one another in a mixture of doubt and resentment. "I'll try not to stumble over," Percy said in jest, trying to conceal his feelings. Bob slapped him on the back. "You won't," he said. "Right," said Jack and Buster nodded. Monty remained silent. After all, he was the one who had been replaced.	30
The day before the big meet, Monty found himself sitting beside Percy, watching some javelin throwers warming up for their event. Soon, he felt uncomfortable being around with Percy. He left his seat and started across the field for a walk. Percy's eyes were following him idly when a sudden shout made him shift his gaze. He saw a javelin in mid-air, winging its way into the path of the oblivious Monty. The javelin was sure to pierce Monty! Percy leapt forward with a yell. Monty paid no attention. Percy sprinted the few steps that separated them and crashed into Monty. Monty staggered ahead and sprawled heavily on the ground. At the same time, Percy twisted his body just in time to avoid the narrow long pole which buried its sharp head into the ground beside him.	35
Monty tried to stand but sank back. His ankle had given way and his face was filled with pain and rage. Then he saw the javelin, still quivering in the ground and his face drained of colour. "You... you did that for me?" Monty said, looking at Percy. "Monty, I thought your time had come!" the coach exclaimed, rushing up together with the other three members of the relay team.	40
"I'm out," said Monty. He was still looking at Percy as though seeing him for the first time. "He'll run for me."	45
