One evening, a shepherd ran home feeling terrified. "I saw something terrible", he cried to his wife and son. "It's as big as four horses. It has long, sharp claws, a long pointy tail and shiny blue scales all over his body."

His son looked up from his book. "That sounds like a dragon", he said. Surprisingly, the boy was not afraid. His parents' eyes widened in bewilderment.

The next day, the boy went up the hill to find the dragon. The boy was expecting to see a friendly dragon. True enough, the friendly dragon, Daisy, received the boy with a smile on her face. She offered the boy an apple too.

The villagers found out about Daisy and wanted to get rid of her as they felt threatened by her. The villagers brought in Saint George, a dragon killer, to fight Daisy. Upon hearing the horrifying news, the boy rushed to tell Daisy about it. She gasped heavily. Her heart sank as she knew that she would not even hurt a fly.

The boy brought Saint George to meet Daisy. "No fighting!" said Daisy firmly.

"Not even a pretend fight?" asked the boy.

"Maybe..." said Daisy. Saint George agreed to the plan.

Next morning, a roar echoed through the hills. Flames filled the air. The villagers screamed as the dragon appeared. After many rounds of fighting with Saint George, Daisy slumped to the ground. Saint George declared, "I think the dragon has learnt her lesson. Let us invite her to our feast!"

It was the first day of school at the university. Our professor introduced himself and challenged us to get to know someone we were unfamiliar with.

I stood up to look around when a gentle hand touched my shoulder. I turned around to find a wrinkled, old lady beaming with a smile that lit up her entire being.

She said, "Hi, Handsome. My name is Tina. I'm eighty-seven years old. Can I give you a hug?"

I laughed and enthusiastically responded, "Of course you may!" and she gave me a giant squeeze.

"Why are you in university at this age?" I asked, feeling puzzled.

"I have always dreamt of having a university education as I want to gain knowledge and now I'm getting one!" she replied casually.

After class, we walked to the canteen and shared a chocolate milkshake. We talked non-stop and became friends instantly.

Tina's wealth of knowledge was admired by many in school. I was always mesmerised listening to her as she shared her wisdom and experiences with me.

Over the course of the year, Tina was an inspiration and she easily made friends wherever she went. She gave motivational speeches on lifelong learning. She was a living example to show that education has no barriers or limitations. As a result, I became an ardent fan in no time.
